

Folding Picnic Table

John McCulloch B.Sc., M.Sc., F.Inst.M.&C., C.Eng.

It really annoys me that when you use a conventional picnic table, the top and seats have to be washed and wiped clean before use as they are covered in bird poo, dead leaves and wind-borne dust and debris.

So I designed a picnic table that has table top and seats that can be folded away when not in use, (see below), so that any bird poo and other debris falls on the under-sides of seats and table-top. But this works as normal when unfolded, (as shown on the previous page).

It has wheels that make it easier to move around to catch sun or shade. It has a hole in the centre of the table-top for a sun-shade umbrella when needed.

If you wish to copy this design for personal use or for a purely charitable purpose, you are very welcome to use the idea, but please let me know as a courtesy. If you wish to use the design for a commercial profit-making purpose, please contact me so that we can negotiate a small share of the profits. Failure to do this will be considered a breach of copyright.